Selling differently: strengths that win
 This session shares the personal journeys of two women succeeding in sales. Georgia and Laura discuss their experiences as young women in a male dominated sales environment.
 Their heartwarming stories highlight the discrimination that women still face, the strengths women bring to sales, and the behavioural differences women bring to the table to support long-term relationship building over quick wins. They'll share the importance and impact of mentoring and stepping beyond comfort zones. The session embodies a positive call to champion and develop future female talent.
- 11.40am Lisa Webster, Senior Technical Consultant – AJ Bell
Who wants to be a PR?
 With the impending changes to pensions and IHT, our Senior Technical Consultant Lisa will look at the challenges of being a personal representative post 6 April 2027. This session will help you guide clients through the process, and give you the relevant know-how on the options available to beneficiaries for paying IHT when it falls due on pensions.
- 12.10pm Cathi Harrison, CEO – Verve
Inside Verve: workplace wellbeing that delivers
 Cathi, Founder and CEO of Verve, will deliver this insightful session outlining the importance of integrated wellbeing support in the workplace. She'll highlight proven and effective wellbeing methods to help firms boost resilience, reduce absenteeism and enhance team productivity. This session will highlight why wellbeing should be a key consideration for all adviser firms.

- 12.30pm Rebecca McVittie, Investment Director – Fidelity International
The evolving case for emerging markets
 Rising geopolitical uncertainty has led to a period of elevated volatility across EM markets. Fidelity Investment Director Rebecca will explore how the investment case for the asset class is evolving, shaped by shifting policy dynamics, still-attractive valuations, and themes such as commodity strength and the AI supply chain.
- 12.50pm Lunch
 Afternoon tea will be served.
- 1.20pm Fiona Clutterbuck, Chair – AJ Bell
Inclusive cultures within the workplace – Q&A
 Creating an inclusive culture brings about its challenges, but also huge benefits if delivered with integrity. Taking actions toward better diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) practices is high priority for AJ Bell, and in this interview with Fiona, she'll take a look back on her own experiences both in business and family life – providing insight into how diversity in leadership teams really does make a difference.
- 1.40pm Laura Suter, Director of Personal Finance – AJ Bell
The pensions gender gap
 Director of Personal Finance Laura addresses the gender pensions gap, highlighting the stark difference in UK retirement savings between men and women and ultimately women's pension wealth leading to lower annual pension income.

 This inequality is driven by the gender pay gap, career breaks for caring responsibilities, higher rates of part time work, and lower awareness of pension planning. As a result, women face greater financial insecurity in later life with pensioners facing the reality of poverty in retirement.

 Laura will highlight the latest facts and figures, and associated concerns, and consider what action the advised community can take to help close the gap.
- 2.10pm Eleanor Mills, Founder, Editor, Writer and Broadcaster – NOON
The rise of the Queenager: the super-consumers financial services can't ignore
 Midlife women – or “Queenagers” – are one of the most powerful, yet overlooked, consumer groups in the economy. In this energetic and thought provoking session, Eleanor, Founder of NOON reveals why women aged 45–65 control the vast majority of household spending yet remain underserved by financial services.

 Drawing on NOON's independent research, Eleanor explores the financial anxieties, life transitions and missed opportunities facing this generation – and why speaking to women as real people is essential for future growth. This unmissable session sets out how advisers can better understand, engage and support the super-consumers shaping the next chapter of the financial services industry.
