The self-employed and saving for later life

There are now around five million self-employed people in the UK, and an increasing number of them are women. At a time when we are seeing falling pension participation by the self-employed, we will discuss how this segment of the working population is saving for later life. And what can advisers, pension providers, the Government and regulators do to encourage more of the self-employed to save more money?

2.20pm Maria Municchi, Fund Manager – M&G Investments

How can investors' pensions and investments be a force for good?

Maria will look at the growing demand for pensions and investments to be invested more sustainably in order to manage some of the world's biggest challenges such as climate change, waste management and plastics. She will also look at some of the solutions that can meet this growing need to invest more sustainably.

2.50pm Member Trustee – Smart Works Greater Manchester

Planting the seed of self-belief

Smart Works supports women in need into employment with a simple two-hour intervention including a 'dressing' appointment and interview coaching. In a relatively short amount of time, the transformation to visitors is astonishing and the seed of self-belief and an ability to succeed is planted. 65% of visitors go on to secure a job within a month, gaining financial independence and transforming their lives.

This session will look at the experiences undertaken of coaching the women who visit Smart Works and the positive impact this has on their self-belief, as well as sharing some helpful interview and confidence-boosting tips that we can all benefit from.

3.10pm Laura Suter, Personal Finance Analyst – AJ Bell

Ethical investing comes of age?

Ethical investing, or ESG, has been a buzzword on the edges of the investment industry for decades, but now we're starting to see people use their savings to back their ethics – with flows into ethical investment strategies starting to rise. But what's driving this trend, who are the investors backing the strategies and what are their goals? And as more money is drawn into these strategies, how are investment companies responding? Do we all need to be wary of greenwashing and cynical grabs for assets?
